

Everything connected to one battery terminal acquires the same potential (voltage.)

One side has a positive charge imbalance and one side has a negative imbalance.